INSTRUCTIONS

Individual Certification Form

The Individual Certification form is to be completed by the county emergency services director when certifying HAZMAT personnel in the Volunteer Incentive Program.

After completion, the form is to be provided (and kept on file) to the individual HAZMAT team member for his/her records when claiming the $3,000 tax deduction on his/her 2017 state income tax.

HAZMAT Team Reporting Form/Deadline Friday, March 23, 2018

The HAZMAT Team reporting form is to be completed by the county emergency services director when reporting those qualified to the Office of State Fire Marshal. This completed form is to be sent to the Fire Marshal's Office no later than Friday, March 23, 2018. As a result, the State Fire Marshal is responsible for filing with the State Department of Revenue a statewide listing of all volunteer HAZMAT personnel who are qualified to receive the tax deduction.

The State Fire Marshal's Office, in conjunction with the S.C. State Firefighters' Association, formulated the point system featured on the individual certification form. The following is an explanation of key topics:

Training

Training courses listed in this section are those deemed deserving of specific points, but are not intended to be the only training qualifying for point accumulation. Additional training, other than that listed, qualifies under the "bonus point" section.

Training courses listed carry forward to following years. In other words, an individual does not have to receive the training again the next year to receive the points. Therefore, once a HAZMAT member receives EMT, paramedic or first responder training, he automatically receives those points each year.

The course listed "Self-contained Breathing Apparatus" is any course deemed appropriate by the county emergency services director that specifically addresses maintenance and use of the breathing apparatus.

IMPORTANT: In all instances dealing with training, it is the responsibility of the county emergency services director (who is certifying to the Department of Revenue) to make sure the individual has, in fact, received the training. Therefore, that individual is qualified to receive the points within that category.

Station Training/Meetings

These points are accumulated by the individual's attendance at team meetings and training sessions that he/she is eligible to attend. For example: In a combination department, paid personnel might be required to train every day on duty. However, a volunteer team member may be required to train only once a month. The percentage of attendance would be determined by the monthly training session in which the volunteer is required to attend. The same holds true for station meetings.

Call Volume - Volunteer Response

The participation percentage for calls is computed from those calls in which the volunteer is expected and required to attend. For example: In a combination department, paid personnel may handle routine calls and a volunteer member might only be called for a major incident. The participation percentage for the volunteer would not be based on ALL calls answered by the team, but only those calls where the volunteers were alerted. Second example: For teams with volunteers assigned specific days to be on call, the individual volunteer's participation percentage would be based only on those calls falling on the days he/she was actually on standby.

Service to HAZMAT Teams

This category was established for volunteers who are unable to actively participate in HAZMAT team operations, but continue to provide significant service to the team and community by performing other HAZMAT duties. The county emergency services director has sole authority in granting these points and services, which include (but are not be limited to) dispatch, maintenance, computer entry, crowd control at scene, etc.

Bonus Points

These points are awarded for any training, other than that identified under the Training Section, that the county emergency services director deems appropriate and beneficial to the operation of the team and citizens.

County Emergency Services Director Certification

The county emergency services director is the sole authority for the certification of the Volunteer HAZMAT Personnel as it relates to the volunteer being qualified to receive the state tax deduction under the Volunteer Incentive Program law.

This law rewards volunteer HAZMAT personnel for services rendered to their community. The point system was created so that those individuals putting forth a good faith effort should qualify. It is, however, the responsibility of the county emergency services director to verify that those individuals meeting the standard receive the benefit.

To allow volunteers to receive this significant benefit, the OSFM encourages county emergency services directors to keep appropriate records.
